KING, MARY S. NEE HAINES (FARRAR) (MRS. J.B.) 1839-1896 (1896)

Mary S. King, daughter of Mr. Edward and Sarah Haines, born at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, June 22, 1839, when a motherless babe of a few days, was brought to the home of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J.N. Farrar, Sr., in Hudson, Ohio, where she grew up a loved and loving member of the family.

Her marriage with Mr. J.B. King on August 19, 1863 was a happy one, continuing for nearly one third of a century in our midst.

She was an efficient housekeeper and home-maker, genial and hospitable to all who came within the range of her acquaintance. Hers was a bright and sunny disposition, always hopeful and making the best of everything; interested in that which interested others, old or young; thus adding to the happiness of those with who she came in contact. So says one who knew her well.

She was always kind to the poor, never were they turned away from door unassisted, and her kindness extended to many.

Slowly, but gradually, as the probable result of injuries received in early life, she endured such a suffering as few are ever called upon to bear. For nearly seventeen years an invalid, growing more and more helpless until for years she could not so much as reach her hand to her head, and later, unable to move a finger or muscle,for any purpose whatever.

As long as she was able though with pain and discomfort industriously busied herself with needle or work of art until no longer able to do even that. When calling upon her, so cordial was her welcome, so bright and cheery her conversation, that one who did not know would never dream of the agony she was sometimes enduring without mention lest it mar a lessen the comfort of others. She had many friends who sought to add to her comfort and happiness or divert from her trying situation, but of all none could compare with the self-sacrificing care and devotion of a thoughtful, faithful husband, whose perservering aim was to anticipate every want and to gratify as nearly as possible her every wish.

Mrs. King united with this church on profession of her faith, July 2,1854, at the age of fifteen. She was for many years a member of the choir. Though for so many years deprived of church privileges, she was interested in all that concerned it; enjoyed hearing many of our pastor's sermons read at her home, which at her request they kindly furnished her. The sudden death of her husband was a terrible shock to her, and the leaving of all old associations and and friends to be removed to the home of her only daughter, Mrs. T.F. Reid, at Massilon, Ohio, where she died and was buried beside her husband--a sad experience, but she tried to brave it all .

In her new home, as there was no church and pastor of her choice, she accepted the kind offices of the Episcopal clergyman; Reverend Mr. Kemp, who at her request prayed with her and was to have administered the Sacrament as soon as she was able to receive it, but she gradually grew worse and the time never came.

Her mind was clear to the last, almost and with the pleasing illusion that some of her dear friends who had gone before, were present with her, she quietly passed away on the morning of July 4, 1896, aged fifty-seven years.

Mr. J.B. King was born in Youngstown, Ohio Mahoning County, October 10, 1829. When about twenty-two years of age, removed to and settled in Hudson, remaining a resident of that place until his death.

On August 19, 1863, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Farrar (Haines) of Hudson, sho survives him. She has been a helpless invalid for sixteen years, but through all her suffering has been patient and cheerfully greets her friends.

Much of Mr. King's time in late years was spent in caring for his wife, and always gave willing service. His life illustrates a devotion which will be honored always. For many years, Mr. King was active in the business and social life of Hudson. A man of pure character and strict integrity, he soon won and always retained the confidence and respect of his neighbors and associates.

He was an active and consistent member of the Congregational Church, and for several years was Superintendent of the Sunday School.

His death occurred April 11, 1895, at St. Albans, Vermont, where he went to attend to business. His remains were brought here for the funeral service, but taken to Massilon, Ohio as that is where his wife has her home with her daughter, Mrs. T.F. Reid.

Doctor compiles medical history

Dr. Walter Hartung, Jr., documented history of area's hospitals and medical practice from 1600s

A retired Toledo physician who has penned works on the area's medical history has put the results of a similar venture in hospital gift shops.

The History of Medical Practice in Toledo and Maumee Valley 1600-1990 is a 1992, self-published book of Dr. Walter H. Hartung, Jr., a former chief of staff and medical director of pathology at St. Charles Hospital.

Besides writing for the 322-page book, he also edited material submitted from area hospital physicians who he asked to be on-site "historians" by providing details from each medical institution.

While doing research for another book in the early 1970s, Dr. Hartung became interested in documenting the history of the area's hospitals. He also is co-author of History of the Toledo Medical College, 1882-1914.

He credits Buettner Printing Co. for helping organize and get hard covers for his most recent book.

"I wanted a hard cover for people to stick it in their libraries," Dr. Hartung said.

It already is in libraries at the main branch of the Toledo-Lucas County Public Library, Way Public Library in Perrysburg, Academy of Medicine, and at the Maumee Valley Historical Society.

Dr. Hartung intends to send some of the 1,500 copies to local parochial high schools, the University of Toledo, and Lourdes College.

The book also will serve as a fund-raiser for hospitals, where they are sold in gift shops.

Once Dr. Hartung gets back the $25,000 he invested, he'll offer the remaining proceeds to local high schools, churches, and some charities.

"We expect sales to pick up with the Christmas season," he said.

Dr. Hartung doesn't exactly boast about the book that he worked on for five years, but he's clearly proud.

It is a fascinating collection of medical facts, with details on hospitals that no longer exist to the area's youngest medical facility, Charter Hospital. It is replete with listings, such as hospitals' founders and chiefs of staff, hospital costs, and presidents of the Academy of Medicine and the Toledo Dental Society.

There are even historical nuggets about northwest Ohio , including an 1835 item about the founding of The Blade.

Dr. Hartung was the first physician to serve two terms as president of the Academy of Medicine of Toledo and Lucas County.

"I served two nonconsecutive terms," he said. "It was the first time they ever had the same president at two different times."

A laboratory at St. Charles Hospital was named for Dr. Hartung when he retired in 1988. A scholarship fund for medical technologists also was established in his name.

As a medical historian, Dr. Hartung has searched Toledo medical records dating back to the 1870s for traces of the surgeon, a Dr. S.S. Lungren, somewhat of a mystery figure credited with first performing a female sterilization procedure, tubal ligation. Dr. Hartung's research led him to believe the procedure was done at either Toledo Hospital or what was then St. Vincent Hospital, in about the 1880s.

Post-Gazette

BY JIM McKAY
BLOCK NEWS ALLIANCE

PITTSBURGH — The 10 unions that shut down the Pittsburgh Press Co. in May over contract disagreements have reached settlements with the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, meeting a key deadline in the morning newspaper's bid to buy its larger rival.

Teamsters Local 211, which began a strike May 17 over the Press Co.'s plans to change the way it distributed Pittsburgh's daily newspapers, voted 498 to 14 yesterday to accept a five-year contract with the Post-Gazette.

The strike against the Press Co., which published afternoon and Sunday newspapers, also idled the smaller Post-Gazette. The morning P-G was printed and distributed by the Press Co. prior to the strike under a federally approved joint operating agreement.

Also approving contracts yesterday were unions that represent advertising and finance department employees, printers, pressmen, mailers, paper handlers, and electricians.

Agreements were ratified last week by locals representing plate makers, machinists, operating engineers, and service employees.

When it agreed to sell the Press Co. to the Post-Gazette, E.W. Scripps Co. of Cincinnati, said agreements had to be negotiated with all of the unions by today or the deal would expire.

The U.S. Justice Department must review and approve the sale of the Press Co. to the Post-Gazette, which is owned by Blade Communications, Inc., of Toledo. That ruling may not come until January.

It is not clear whether both newspapers will survive.

William Block, Sr., chairman of the Blade Communications, has said operating two newspapers may not be economically feasible.

Jeffrey Flynn says he likes nothing better than going out after work and talking about his favorite topic — business.

But when he looked around for a group of similar-minded entrepreneurs, he found none.

So he started his own group.

The Young Entrepreneurs Society is a grassroots organization open only to business owners who want to exchange ideas with other business owners, Mr. Flynn said.

Mr. Flynn, 30, said he originally envisioned the group for people under the age of 35, but when he had a difficult time marketing that idea, he opened it up to anyone with a business less than 10 years old and sales of less than $1 million.

"We want the Ma and Pa organizations, the man who owns the corner florist shop, for example," said Mr. Flynn, who owns several companies, including Roofscan, which x-rays the roofs of commercial and industrial buildings in order to locate leaks.

Mr. Flynn and his partner, Kevin Carmony, have found that many people coming out to their meetings are older, established entrepreneurs who want to help others.

"We're finding that we're attracting wily old veterans who support start-up business," said Mr. Carmony, affiliated with Coulacos-/Brennan and Associates.

Y.E.S. currently has three programs — Success Stories, Power Networking, and Masterminds — all designed to bring together like-minded people to share ideas, contacts, and resources.

Success Stories is a weekly luncheon meeting that features speakers who are entrepreneurs telling how they overcame major obstacles to become successes, Mr. Flynn said.

"They give real world, practical advice and suggestions about how to run a business," he said.

Those luncheon meetings, which will start up again Jan. 5, are held at the Charcoal House restaurant and the speeches are being video-

CLARISSA BALDWIN GREGORY: A HUDSON LEGACY

by James F. Caccamo

Of all of David Hudson's grandchildren, Clarissa Miriam Baldwin was the one whose life would intertwine with Hudson, Ohio more than any other. She was the third child of David Hudson's youngest daughter, Anner Maria Hudson, and Maria's husband, Harvey Baldwin. The Baldwins had four daughters: Anna Norton Baldwin, born October 17, 1818, who died December 13, 1825; Harriet Maria Baldwin born September 3, 1824, and who died January 20, 1841; the aforementioned Clarissa, born October 27, 1830; and Lucy Susanna Baldwin born October 8, 1843 and died August 12, 1860.

A close and affectionate family, the Baldwins were repeatedly devastated by the early deaths of three of their girls. Clarissa (or "Clara" as she was known to family and friends) was the only Hudson grandchild from this line of the family to marry and have children of her own. And the man she chose to marry was Professor Edwin S. Gregory.

Edwin Gregory was born in Fleming, New York on April 20, 1828. He was brought to the Western Reserve with his family when he was only two years old. Educated at Western Reserve College's Preparatory Department and later the College itself, Gregory transferred to Harvard, graduating from there in 1852. After a year as Superintendent of Schools in Monroeville, Ohio, he returned to Hudson, where he was made principal of Reserve's Preparatory School (1854-66). Later, he served as an Adjunct Professor of Latin at Western Reserve College (1861-66).

Edwin Smith Gregory married Clarissa Baldwin on July 28, 1852 here in Hudson. The Gregorys had two children: Harriet, who was born 1853, and Anna, who was born July 23, 1858. In 1866, though, the Gregorys left Hudson. Edwin had received an appointment as principal at a high school in Youngstown, a position which he kept until 1878.

The Gregorys moved back to Hudson that year, and became reinvolved in the community. Clara's mother, Anner Maria Hudson Baldwin, was widowed when Harvey Baldwin died on June 12, 1880. She would survive until April 25, 1892, and Clara, as the only surviving child, became responsible for her care.

Edwin died on October 10, 1893 in Canton, while he was visiting his daughter, Harriet, who had married Julius Whiting, Sr. Neither of the Gregory daughters would survive their mother. Harriet died in Canton on November 12, 1902. Anna, who had married Henry Ebert Lee, died on March 20, 1903 in Hudson. That meant that Clara had to focus her attention on her grandchildren, and in particular, on the Lees. And her grandaughter, Anna Virginia Lee, became the one who inherited the David Hudson House through Clarissa Baldwin Gregory.

Toward the end of her life, Clara worked to preserve the town's history, writing material for the town's centennial celebration and maintaining artifacts and manuscripts. In fact, she lay the groundwork for the efforts of her first cousin, Caroline Baldwin Babcock, in Mrs. Babcock's efforts to preserve the town's history through the founding of the Hudson Library and Historical Society in 1910.

Clarissa Baldwin Gregory did not live to see Mrs. Babcock's dream fulfilled. She died here in Hudson on December 5, 1907. Of her, the Hudson Independent of December 13, 1907 had this to say:

> On last Thursday morning the light went out in Hudson which was truly a connecting link between the past and the present as it represented all that remained in the village of the second generation of David Hudson the founder of the town 107 years ago...her whole life has been identified in the interests of Hudson.

Clara Gregory is buried in Markillie Cemetery. But her legacy lives on in the collections of the Hudson Library and Historical Society, where the recently-acquired collection of materials, the Hudson-Baldwin Papers, are a valuable source for material about the Hudsons and of their town.

MORE HUDSON FAMILY PAPERS DONATED

Another collection of Hudson family papers has been donated to the Hudson Library and Historical Society. Earlier this spring, David L. Herrmann of Sturgis, Michigan, a direct descendant of David Hudson through Timothy Hudson Sr. gave the library three manuscript boxes full of family letters, photos, and documents. The majority of the material pertains to Timothy Hudson Sr.'s daughter, Catherine Hudson Hayes, from whom the donor descends.

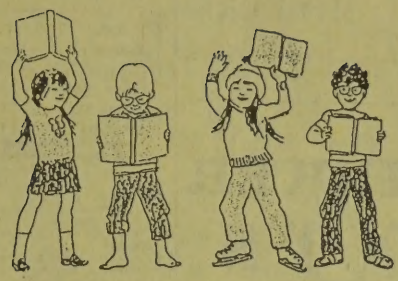
The library is very pleased to add this group of Hudson family items to its collections. And we were especially pleased that Mr. Herrmann and his two young sons, Christopher and Andrew, came to Hudson in April to visit, giving the boys a chance to see one of their ancestral towns.

WINKLEPLECK NAMED TO OHIO COMMITTEE ON LIBRARY FUNDING

We have learned that Hudson Library Trustee R. Gordon Winklepleck has been appointed to the State Library of Ohio's Intracounty Distribution Formula Study Committee. This committee will review the data gathered by consultants about how the state-generated library tax is distributed in the counties that have more than one independent library system.

Mr. Winklepleck is one of two library trustees from Ohio libraries named by the Ohio Library Trustees Association to this committee. He represents the point of view of trustees in nearly sixty Ohio counties.

Read for the Fun of it!



"READ FOR THE FUN OF IT!"

The Hudson Library is sponsoring a summer reading club to interest preschool children in reading and to encourage school-age children to maintain their reading habits during the vacation period. The theme of this year's club is "Read for the Fun of It." After children have read their first book, they are ready to register and will receive their summer reading club folders.

The folders will remain at the library until the program is completed. For each book read, one through ten, the children earn a sticker to put in their folders. The object is to collect all ten stickers and thus complete the folder. Children will keep a record on the back of their folders of all the books they read.

The club begins Monday, June 11th and ends Saturday, August 11th. This means any library book checked out and read AFTER June 11th will qualify you for the club. You do not preregister. No one gets a folder on June 11th, but you can check out books that day. Library books must go home at least overnight. (Books read IN the library may NOT be recorded.) Some children join in June, July or even August whenever they read their first library book. The folders will begin to be processed immediately after August 11th. Please do not ask us to add books after that date. Any student up to 8th grade may join. Parents can help by making certain that the books to be recorded are consistent with their children's reading level. The club folders are returned to the children in late September through the schools and their new classroom teachers.

The club is open to preschoolers. Parents may record books that they read to their preschoolers and thus let them share in the fun. The preschoolers' folders may be picked up at the library in late September.

The reading club desk at the library is operated by student volunteers. They play a very important part in helping to distribute club materials. However, all questions about club procedures should be addressed to a library staff member to avoid any conflict.

The club is designed to promote reading as fun and entertainment. It is not a contest. The library staff hopes that summertime allows the club members a little extra time to explore the library and the wide variety of books available to them. Likewise, we on the staff enjoy getting to know the club members.

McDonald's Hamburgers help sponsor the club and provide coupons as incentives.

Please feel free to contact Jane Spencer or Marjie Origlio at the library: 653-6659, with any questions.

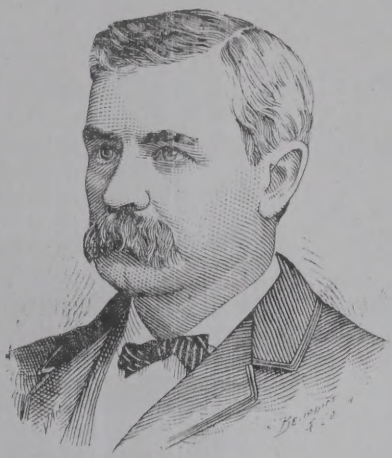
of the finances of the country, by the panic of 1837, the charter lapsed, before work was begun upon the line. A renewal of the charter was obtained in 1845, and the work was proceeded with, the people of Hudson subscribing liberally, in lands, for right of way, money, etc., the road being finally completed from Cleveland to Hudson in the winter of 1851–52.

CHARLES C. HINE,– son of Hial M. and Mary (Pease) Hine, was born in Twinsburg, May 1, 1842; educated in district schools and at Twinsburg Institute; raised a farmer; October 8, 1867, was married to Miss Ellen M. Farrar, of Hudson, and located on a farm in that township the same Fall. In politics, Mr. Hine is an ardent Republican and active in all public affairs, having served as trustee of Hudson township for eight consecutive years. In October, 1885, Mr. Hine was elected county commissioner, entering upon his duties the following December; was re-elected in 1888, and is still (October, 1891), ably and intelligently filling that responsible position. Mr. and Mrs. Hine are the parents of one daughter, only—Florence Farrar Hine, born May 9, 1876.



CHARLES C. HINE.

Meantime, the people of Hudson, Cuyahoga Falls and Akron had projected the "Akron Branch," now the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroad, on an amendment to the charter of the first named road, to which road, completed to Akron, in 1852, Hudson was also a liberal contributor. The completion of these roads so favorably affected the business and agricultural interests of Hudson, that they came to believe that they couldn't have "too much of a good thing," and were, consequently, more than ready to enter into any new project that seemed to give promise of increasing the boom that was then beginning to be felt in the business, industrial and educational departments of the town. Accordingly, when the "Clinton Line Railroad" from Hudson east to the Pennsylvania State line, which was to be one of the links of "The Great American Railway," from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific, was organized, in 1852, the people of Hudson were among its most active promoters, Professor Henry N. Day, of Western Reserve College, becoming its president, and very largely assuming its management, to the stock and right of way of which the people of Hudson unstintedly contributed. So, also, to the "Clinton Line Extension" link, from Hudson to Tiffin, organized in 1853, also under the presidency of Professor Day, and with Hon. Van R. Humphrey as principal trustee, like liberal investments were made in lands and money, by the people of Hudson. The "Hudson & Painesville" project also, designed to be a continuation of the "Akron Branch" direct to Lake Erie, organized in 1853, with Judge Humphrey as its president, was also generously promoted by Hudson's public spirited inhabitants.

These three projects, in the furtherance of which Hudson had literally turned her pockets inside out, were simultaneously and

HORACE ROGERS:

AN UPDATE

In the October 1979 issue of Ex Libris (Volume 1, Number 2), the lead article was about local artist Horace Rogers. Since that time, new information has surfaced about his personal life that clears up some of the inadequacies of the original article. This, then, is an update on Horace Rogers.

First of all, Horace was the son of Norman Rogers and Minerva Lusk. Norman was the son of Henry and Mary Day Rogers who settled in Deerfield, Ohio after coming from Massachusetts. Norman was born in West Springfield, Massachusetts in 1788, and came with his parents to Deerfield in 1800. In 1804, Norman moved to Hudson Township. Minerva was the daughter of Captain Amos Lusk of Hudson. Her sister, Dianthe, married John Brown.

Norman and Minerva Rogers had five children: Amos, Laura, Mary, Horace, and Edward. Amos lived most of his adult life in Michigan. Laura and Mary never married. Edward married Catherine Whedon of Hudson and had two daughters, Elizabeth (Lizzie) and Catherine (Katie). Horace married Sarah Fox of Canada in March of 1875. She died that September.

Horace was born in Hudson on his father's farm on November 18, 1827. Except for when he was on the road sketching, he resided in Hudson his entire life. His skills as a commercial artist were well-known throughout Summit County. He was responsible for most of the sketches in the 1874 Atlas of Summit County. His work can also be seen on the 1855 map of Hudson Village.

His brother Edward, who was the youngest child in the family, became a dentist after attending preparatory school at Western Reserve College. Dr. Rogers set up practice in Medina County, but soon returned to Hudson. While he still practiced dentistry, he had other concerns as well. He set up an insurance business in Hudson, and entered politics. A staunch Republican, he was twice elected mayor of Hudson, and for twenty-five years was a Justice of the Peace and the Hudson Township Clerk.

Both brothers were affected by the Great Fire of 1892 (see Ex Libris, Volume II, Number 4, April 1980). They had offices in the Adelphian Hall, and were burnt out. Edward's office contained some of the Township's records, which were lost in the fire.

Horace Rogers died in July of 1894. He was 66. His brother Edward, who took care of Horace and provided him with a home, also took care of him in death. He bought Horace a plot in Markillie Cemetery, where his tombstone stands today.

Of Horace Rogers, the Akron Beacon and Republican for July 21, 1894 had this to say:

> He was a fine artist, and had exceptionally high artistic and literary tastes...He was one of the best, kindest hearted and most honest of men, and will long be missed by all who had the good fortune to know him.

Of his surviving family, we know that Edward lived until 1907. Katie, who had made a career for herself in real estate, died in 1927, a week apart from her mother. Lizzie, who had married Dr. George Miller of Hudson, also died in 1927. Dr. Miller later married Helen Evans, mother of the late Josephine Serfass.

Of Horace Rogers' surviving work, most appears in the small sketchbooks that Dr. Miller donated to the Historical Society. We also have some larger works, notably a drawing of a railroad crash, a sketch of David Hudson's house, and a view of the Green, as well as a copy of the map and atlas Rogers illustrated. All of Rogers' work is available for viewing in the Historical Society.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Occasionally, we receive correspondence that we feel needs to be shared with our readers. That is exactly the case with this letter about the Ellsworth family's Swiss castle. jfc

Dear Mr.Vince:

Each month I follow with avid interest Ex Libris and find myself eagerly looking for articles with names I recall from my childhood.

Of course, the Ellsworth name has held particular fascination due to my aunt's [Luella Dodds] association with that family.

Recently returned from a six week trip through Bavaria and Switzerland--I have been sifting through various bits and pieces accumulated and found duplicate copies on Schloss Lenzburg and thought perhaps you would be interested in what is currently happening.

In 1976, I visited the castle and was disappointed to find the curator of the museum was away at a convention. This time I wanted to give more attention to my pilgrimage so I reserved a room at the very interesting Hotel Ochseu in Lenzburg. On my previous visit, I had discovered the owner of the inn's father knew J.W. Ellsworth--the inn is full of wonderful old world antiques and the food was the best we had during the entire six weeks.

Once again circumstances beyond my control were less than perfect. It seems that within a matter of weeks after my visit to the castle in 1977, work began on extensive renovation and there are three more years to go. Many areas are closed off to the public, but I did manage to see a number of the rooms used by Mr. & Mrs. Ellsworth. I may have one or two pictures but they are still at the camera shop.

Once again the curator was absent--this time he was ill, but I discovered he did not speak English anyway. However, I was fortunate to meet the resident manager of Cultural Affairs, and he did speak English. I showed him a picture of Mrs. Ellsworth and Mrs. Dodds, and he had me sign the special guest-book.

If at any time you intend to visit Schloss Lenzburg, I suggest you call ahead and make an appointment with one of the abovementioned persons. The view from the castle has changed in the last five years; it is no longer a rural scene--too bad.

Sincerely,

Jane Crawford King

JUNE CROSSWORD ANSWERS

NEW LARGE-PRINT BOOKS ARE HERE... MORE ON THE WAY!

We think that our regular large-print book users are aware that we are circulating books with some strange markings on them. We belong to a large-print book circuit, a service of the North Central Library Co-operative to which the Hudson Library belongs. We receive new titles quarterly, and they can be found on the top of the book shelves where our own collection is housed. We will be receiving our new titles (in case you have exhausted our present ones) about the first of October.

Belonging to the circuit has given us a little more flexibility in selecting titles for our permanent collection. In the next few months, we will be receiving some exceptionally fine titles, thanks to the generosity of Florence Webber, the Lions Club of Hudson, as well as friends of the Library who have chosen to give large-print books as memorials. Recently published is Evelyn Waugh's Brideshead Revisited (perhaps you saw the film on PBS several months ago), Mary Stewart's trilogy about Merlin and King Arthur (The Crystal Cave, The Hollow Hills, and The Last Enchantment), as well as John MacDonald's Turquoise Lament, several titles by Danielle Steele, and others.

These books will not be received until September or October, and we will try to display them prominently when they are ready for circulation. We hope that you will contact us if there is any way we can help you with any requests for a particular large-print book. It it is in print, we will try to get it for you.

A BOYHOOD IN OLD HUDSON

BY H.H. HOSFORD

CHAPTER II, PART 2

On the west side of Main St. was a continuous line of buildings from John Whedon's store on the corner of Brown St. at the north, to the Buss store at the south. In this row were two hotels; whether both were in use as such at the time I am treating I do not know. Both, I think, had balconies on the second floor along a part of the front. One of these hotel buildings, the American House, stood on the west side of Main St. opposite the end of Aurora St. From its balcony, my small sisters and I one day viewed with interest a circus parade. This building was burned down and on the site was erected Farrar's Block in three storeys. On the first floor was Charles Farrar's general store and a drug store kept by Mr. Edwin Bentley. The second storey was given to offices and in the third was a large hall for many years unfinished above and on the sides, but even so much used for public entertainments. Later it was nicely finished so as to be a convenient and attractive public hall. This building was burned like its predecessor, and smaller store buildings now cover the site. [Mr. Hosford is referring to the Adelphian Hall, which was burned in the great fire of 1892]

The other hotel on Main Street, further south, was called the Mansion House and for many years enjoyed a high reputation with travelers. A livery stable was maintained in connection with this hotel. It was burned in the great fire of April 28, 1892.

John Whedon's store on the corner of Main and Brown Streets was a real curiosity shop. A considerable stock of groceries, drugs, and notions was kept on hand, being piled behind, under, on, and in front of the counters according to a mysterious system apparently well-understood by the proprietor. He kept no clerk, and in pleasant weather might be found in his garden back of the store. Occasionally, when conditions were right, he locked up and went fishing. For some articles, violin strings for instance, we always applied to John Whedon.

The Buss store did a large business for many years, keeping a good stock of everything that a country general store is expected to be ready to provide.

In the Pentagon Building on Aurora St. was a store kept by Mr. Gross. I was a frequent customer, as Mr. Gross, for the moderate price of one cent, would sell one a large stick of delectable candy or a slab of gum. In those days, gum was gum and nothing more. There was perhaps a small addition of sugar to the foundation material, but the great variety of pungent and lasting flavors which Mr. Wrigley has succeeded in incorporating in his products was unknown--in my opinion, fortunately so.

Miss Martha Quay kept a school for the younger set on the second floor of the Pentagon, and Mr. Williams kept a general store in the west part. In time, the building was largely taken over for the cheese business of S. Straight and Son, who developed and managed a considerable number of cheese factories in and near Hudson.

The brick Congregational Church was built in the early 1860's to take the place of the frame church on the park. [the current site of the Town Hall ed. note.] When the church was nearing completion, we were notified that on a certain afternoon, we should be able to see the raising of the spire within the brick tower. We children were promptly on hand, but apprehending that something might go wrong and the structure fall, we took up a position on our Aurora St., about half way to Oviatt where we were certainly quite secure. The spire went up quite in accord with plan.

There was a small Roman Catholic church at the corner of Oviatt St. and Railroad St.; and on Aurora St., about halfway from Main to College, was a building used at intervals by the Methodists.

Besides the stores named, there were hardware, stove, and tinner's shops; shops of shoemakers, tailors, coopers, blacksmiths, and wagonmakers; and one or two stores handling groceries. Flour and feed were to be had either at the stores, or at the mill near the depot. Several lawyers and doctors maintained offices in the town. Of the laywers, I recall especially Mr. H.B. Foster and Mr. M.C. Read. Our family physician in my earliest years was Dr. Ashmun, followed later by Dr. Frank Hodge. Another prominent physician was Dr. A.E. Berbower Dr. E.E. Rogers was our dentist.

NOTES FROM THE CHILDREN'S ROOM

In the final week of the Library's Summer Reading Club, The Reading Riding Rodeo, the 650 members of the club have been an enthusiastic lot. Their efforts culminate as they color, cut, and paste the Western scene on their reading folders and name their cowboys and cowgirls. Ribbons will be awarded for the most original names. The winning entries will be on display in the Children's Room at the end of August.

In keeping with the Western theme of the club, the Friends of the Hudson Library sponsored "The Zaleski Lariateurs". The Zaleskis are a father and son team from Canton, Ohio who treated a merry group of children and their parents to an hour-long program of rope tricks. The event took place on the Library's back yard. I might have enjoyed the performance even more than the children.

A very special thanks to the Friends for once again supporting the Children's Department.

STILL GREATER EFFICIENCY.—The Department, as complete as it is, still falls short of the rapidly increasing requirements of the city, and is to be immediately enlarged by the erection of new stations, and the placing of steamers and other apparatus on West Hill and at other appropriate points, at an estimated cost of $50,000, an expenditure that the property owners and tax-payers of the city will all cheerfully acquiesce in.

CUYAHOGA FALLS MATTERS.

OFFICIAL ROSTER FOR 1893:—Samuel Higgs, mayor; H. E. Willems, clerk; Orlando Wilcox, solicitor; John H. Williams, marshal; Robert Adams, street commissioner. Council: D. Frank Felmly, C. P. Richardson, Jacob Senn, David J. Thomas, Samuel K. Fretz, William J. Clarkson. Board of Education: Samuel Higgs, president; McConnell Moore, clerk; Charles A. Davis, treasurer; George F. Patterson, M. D. Card, A. C. Fargo; Frederick Schnee, superintendent of schools. Justices of the Peace: George Parks, Richard Blood.

Early in 1892, The Keeley Institute, for the treatment of alcoholism, was established in the large stone mansion originally built by Henry Newberry Sr., more recently known as the Cooke House, which has proved itself a very successful and useful institution.

The Knights of Pythias, of Ohio, being about to establish a "Home" for the orphan children of their members, through the efforts of Mr. George E. Hitchcock, of Akron, early in 1893, secured an option for the purchase of the above named property for the sum of $13,000, and at the annual session of the Grand Lodge, at Piqua, May 24, 1893, the report of the committee for its purchase, after spirited competition and full discussion, was adopted, $5,000 additional for repairs and improvements being appropriated. If the present plans are carried out, the Home will be both a valuable accession to the village and county and a credit and blessing to the Knights of Ohio and their dependents.

The mercantile and manufacturing status of Cuyahoga Falls remains substantially as reported in Chapter 34.

The Cuyahoga Falls Reporter and Western Reserve Farmer, established in 1870, by the late Eugene O. Knox, is now owned and conducted by the Cuyahoga Publishing Company, with Mr. W. W. Warner as editor and business manager.

HUDSON'S GREAT DISASTER.

April 28, 1892, the entire row of business buildings on the west side of the public square, from and including the store of Mr. Charles H. Buss upon the south, and the Farrar Block upon the north, and the Mansion House midway, was destroyed by a believed-to-be incendiary fire, with an aggregate loss of about $150,000, and an aggregate insurance of about $50,000 only. Among the sufferers were: Charles H. Buss, loss $45,000, insurance $20,000; Miss Belle Mills, millinery, loss $1,000; A. W. Lockhart, saloon, loss $2,500, insurance $1,500; Postmaster J. B. Jones, government property saved, personal loss $300; A. A. Edson and F. A. Ball, Mansion House, loss $8,000, insurance $4,000; William Kridler, barber; Henry Wehner, general merchandise; William Saywell, meat market; Fletcher & Ball, jewelers; Sebastian Miller, boots and shoes; Dennis Joyce, groceries; R. T. Miller, bakery; George Miller, meat market and groceries; Jesse Cornelius, barber; Philip Wendling, meat market; C. A. Campbell, harness; J. B. King and Mrs. Berbower, owners of Farrar Block and occupants thereof; E. S. Bently, druggist; Opera House, G. A. R. rooms, O. U. A. M. rooms, M. C. Read's law office, and dental and medical rooms of Doctors E. E. Rogers and G. L. Starr.

Though at first nearly overwhelmed and discouraged by the calamity, the indomitable enterprise and recuperative energy of the people are shown in the fact that, within the intervening year, a good portion of the burned district has been rehabilitated with a better class of structures than the majority of those destroyed, as follows: Charles H. Buss, two-story brick, store at a cost of about $6,000; A. W. Lockhart, iron-clad frame building $1,000; Henry Wehner and J. B. Jones, one-story brick (two stores), $3,000; Sebastian Miller, two-story brick, with offices and hall on second floor, with one-story side addition, $3,000; J. G. Mead, two-story brick, with Pythian Hall and two offices above and two store rooms below, one occupied by himself as a harness store and the other by John Jacobs as a grocery and provision store, $5,000; George Miller, one-story double brick, one room occupied by himself as a meat market and provision store and the other by Ralph Miller as a bakery, $3,000; C. A. Campbell, two-story brick with offices above and three store rooms below, one used by himself as grocery and meat market, the others, at this writing (June, 1893), not yet entirely finished, $6,000; L. Oviatt, on site of Farrar Block, two-story brick, hall and offices on upper floor and three store rooms below, one for bank, one for E. S. Bentley's drug store, the other not yet rented, $6,000; the aggregate expended within the year, including the nice Berea stone sidewalk the entire length of the row, being not far from $40,000.

BARBERTON, TORNADO, FIRE, ETC.

July 25, 1892, the new city of Barberton was visited by a furious tornado which blew down the north half of the National Sewer Pipe Company's main building, involving a loss of $20,000, and also instantly killing Harrier Peters and seriously injuring Michael Roemer, employes of the Company, the same storm giving the Tile Works of J. C. Ewart & Co. a lightning call as it passed on its way to the northeast, though the fire was extinguished before serious damage was done.

March 5, 1893, the Kirkham Art Tile Works, an elegant brick building, in the full tide of successful activity, was destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $250,000. It will probably be rebuilt.

Since the issuance of the main portion of this work, Barberton has become an incorporated village (including the ancient village of New Portage) its municipal officers, elected April 3, 1893, being: Edson Bishop, mayor; George W. Kosier, marshal; J. W. Perry, assistant marshal; William R. McQuigg, clerk; P. C. Buel, treasurer; W. A. Witner, sealer. Council: John Paul, B. F. Tracy, Eli Frederick, Frederick Willems, Morris Young, Jacob Miller. Board of Health: Edson Bishop, president; John R. Davis, secretary; H. P. Fraze, W. P. Welker, H. Kreighbaum, Wellington Miller, Alonz Humphrey. Health Officer, T. Eliot Tait, M. D. Board of Education, John McNamara, president; H. A. Fritz, clerk; W. P. Welker, George Stevens, H. P. Fraze, E. M. Buel. Superintendent of Schools, W. S. Robinson. Postmaster, A. A. Moore.

The Barberton News, a sprightly 24-column newspaper, edited by Prof. John R. Davis, is by no means the least of Barberton's present accomplishments.

Besides many additional business and residence structures, Barberton Inn, one of the finest in the State, has been completed; two elegant churches – Methodist Episcopal and United Brethren—costing $10,000 each, and two less expensive but handsome churches by the Lutherans and Catholics, have been built and dedicated, and two $10,000 school buildings authorized to be built, and much other work, both public and private, accomplished.

TALLMADGE ADDENDA.

In the chapter on Tallmadge (Chap. 50), it was inadvertently omitted that in 1881, the citizens of the township having generously secured the title thereto, the grandsons of Rev. David Bacon (sons of Dr. Leonard Bacon), caused to be placed upon the site of the original cabin of their venerable ancestor, in the south part of the township, a huge granite boulder, on which was inscribed: "Here the first church in Tallmadge was gathered in the house of Rev. David Bacon, January 22, 1809. June 2, 1881."

Mr. George P. Sperry, having deceased, as elsewhere stated, the Tallmadge Sewer Pipe Works are now conducted by the Sperry Sewer Pipe Company, organized December 6, 1892, with a capital of $55,000. Directors: Ira P. Sperry, president; David E. Hill, Mrs. Virginia S. Sperry, George R. Hill, treasurer and general manager, R. A. Lowrey, secretary.

SUMMIT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The pre-eminent success of this truly worthy institution still continues, the total receipts for 1892 being $13,763.74 and the total disbursements $13,635.22. Officers for 1893, George W. Bailey, president; John W. Kreighbaum, vice president; George W. Brewster,

Dear Mrs. Read;

I just happened to have been going through all our documents in our vault and have just finished the Farrar Papers. I can't let them go out of the Archives but I am sending the list of things we have,also some obituaries, etc.
We don't have the exact date when the Farrars came to Hudson but some of the dates on their business transactions may help, also the "mini" genealogy.
The Hudson Heritage has not yet sent me a copy of their findings on the Farrar-Brewster House, so I am afraid he can't give you any information concerning that.
I have two letter written by the Nuttings, One from David H. Nutting, Hudson to his father, Wm. Nutting, Esq. Randolph Vermont, dated Sept. 14, 1852. The other from Rufus Nutting, Jr. Hudson, to his father Rufus Nutting, Sr., Lodi, Washington Co., Mich. In Western Reserve University, Hudson Era by Fred. Waite; Rufus Nutting Sr. is mentioned a number of times in a complementry fashion. According to Waite,Nutting should have been the first president of WRC instead of Storrs.
In the appendix of the above book is a short record of Rufus Nutting, Sr.

1829-1840 Rufus Nutting, A.B., Dartmouth Coll., 1814; prin. of academies in New York and Vermont, 1814-26; prof. Greek, Hampden-Sydney Coll., 1826-27; inst., 1828-29; prof. Languages, 1829-34, and prof. Greek and Latin Languages and Literature, 1834-40; prin. Romeo (Mich) Acad., 1840-47; founder and prin. Lodi (Mich) Acad., 1847-70; b. Groton, Mass., 7-28-1793; d. Detroit, Mich. 7-12-1878.

I am sending some information under separate cover, but for the actual papers and Waite's book, I am afraid you will have to make us a visit.
Enjoyed tremendously the Read Genalogy you sent. It is a welcome addition to our Archives.

Sincerely,

Janet Sprague, Archivist

Dear Mr. Arnold

I am sorry for not answering your letter sooner but I haven't been to the Gen. Library this summer. When I was up there the other day I found that all of the books that have sheets beginning with C in them were out being microfilmed so that took all the Chamberlin family groups sheets.

There are several hundred Arnold family groups sheets in the archives so some one is doing a lot of work on that line. Am sending what information I have at home on the Chamberlin line and hope it will be of some use to you. If you need more let me know and I will try and find it. On the other side of this sheet is a short history of the Chamberlins.

Sincerely yours
Alice M. Johnson

The Chamberlins were French Huguenots who went from France to the northeren part of England, then some of them migrated to Ireland. They changed their names from Chambellen to Chamberlain, then some of them dropped the "a" from the name and spelled it Chamberlin.

The first Chamberlains or Chamberlins came to America as early as 1621. By the year 1780 there were at least thirteen different branches of the family who came to America from England and Ireland settling in Virginia, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Robert Chamberlin of Lambourne, Berkshire, England was born about 1626. He and his wife Elizabeth had six children, two sons and four daughters. He died in England and his wife Elizabeth married Francis Hickman of Marlborough ~~in~~ Wiltshire, England, by whom she had five children. They (the Hickman family) came to America several years after Elizabeths older children did. They settled in Thornbury, Chester, Pennsylvania.

Robert Chamberlin Jr. ch. 15 Feb. 1658-9, his wife Mary and their four children came to America in 1700, and settled in the northern part of Ashton, Delaware, Penn. erecting their home in Concord township in the same year. His sisters Elizabeth and Sarah came to America before he did because Elizabeth who married Richard Ridgeway in England was buried at Crewcorn Bucks Co. Penn. 31 Mar. 1692, + Sarah married Richard Arnold at John Woolstons house near Burlington, Delaware, Penn. 19 Feb 1681.
